Clarify the Request with the Approved Answers

The staffing system has a new request. Work out what it decides and what it leaves open.

The new request	When no qualified person for a role can be found in the pool, a person in a different role at a higher level may fill the opening.
Read · 10 min	Write down what the request already decides and every open question whose answer could change behavior or acceptance.
Clarify · 10 min	Answer each question from the approved business answers released with the case and cite the answer you used. No approved answer? The question stays open. Never invent a rule.

Write the Delta Spec with Acceptance Scenarios

Use 10 minutes to write the delta spec against the current specification.

Choose the state	ADDED, MODIFIED or REMOVED for each entry. Keep implementation detail out of the behavior statements.
Make it checkable	Give every behavior statement a given-when-then scenario whose result can be checked.
Name conflicts	Record every conflict with the current specification instead of deciding it silently.

Draft Checks for Another Learner

Use the final 10 minutes to draft your G1 checks and write your ORID reflection.

For each check	Write the input, expected result, and approved source.
Across the checks	State what the checks cover and which risks remain.
Bring to Day 13	Keep your delta spec and G1 drafts locally for peer feedback.

Your Day 12 ORID Reflection

Use these four prompts in your own words. There is no word count requirement.

O · Objective	What happened today?
R · Reflective	How did you feel? Share only what you choose to share.
I · Interpretive	What did you learn, and what does it mean to you?
D · Decisional	What will you do next?

Commit only `records/orid.md` for this homework and push your classroom repository by 22:00 (Asia/Shanghai). Bring your reflection to the Day 13 standup.
